

Destined to Lead

a leadership conference for young women of color in middle school

- What leadership skills do you have?
- How do you become the leader you want to be?
- Are you prepared for pitfalls and derailments?
- Has anyone ever said you have “potential”?

This conference will help you answer these questions and think about a few more. You will engage with uniquely talented presenters in exercises designed to uncover abilities and explore your vision of self and the possibilities for your future.
