Discussing Our Diversity: How Our Differences Can Bring Us Closer

AUDLEY DONALDSON

PAUL VIVIAN

ROBERT GARRY

CHERESE MILLER

FEBRUARY 17 | 9:30-10:30 AM

Join us on February 17 for a 1-hour webinar with respected local diversity training consultants Audley Donaldson and Paul Vivian. Rather than shying away from conversations about diversity, Audley and Paul have been offering workshops on this subject for over twenty-five years. Their interactive approach engages participants in an honest, open and respectful dialogue on a sensitive and complex topic.

Adding their voices to this conversation will be Robert Garry, principal of Hatton School in Southington, and Cherese Miller-Odukwe, CAS Director of Student Activities. Bob brings the unique perspective of a principal and a former teacher who has worked with Audley and Paul in three school districts. Cherese will share her insights in working with students across Connecticut to help them find and share their voices on issues such as leadership, equity, and racial and social justice.
