

Democracy Powered by You(th)

A nationwide, middle level and high school voter registration competition

Young people deserve a voice in this election. That's why NASSP and the National Honor Society (NHS), National Junior Honor Society (NJHS), and National Student Council (NatStuCo) student leadership programs partnered with DoSomething.org to launch Democracy Powered by You(th)—a nationwide competition to build the largest coalition of youth voters this country has ever seen.

You and your school have the power to make a difference this fall.

Voting is one of the most impactful ways to make a difference on the issues that matter to you and your community. Whether your students are eligible to vote or not, they can help get others registered and out to vote in upcoming elections.

We're asking students to take part in the first-ever Democracy Powered by You(th) voter registration competition! Middle level and high schools across the country are competing in multiple categories to demonstrate innovation, creativity, and student leadership for civic engagement from now until Election Day. Prizes, like merch and celebrity shoutouts, will be awarded to students and schools.

Please share this document with your teachers, counselors, students, parents, and school community to get students activated and started!

How Does It Work?

Step One: Students Sign Up

Students should sign up for the campaign that matches the NASSP student leadership program they are a member of to get started. Students can choose NASSP if they aren't a member of NHS, NJHS, or NatStuCo. Get started by going to the website. (The different student program links are listed on the site.)

Advisers: You do not need to sign up for your students to participate! In fact, because this is a student-run competition, you actually aren't able to. If you want to track your students' overall participation, you are able to do so by monitoring your chapter or council's main campaign page, or each student's individual registration page.

Step Two: Pick a Category

Students should decide in which categories they, their classmates, and their school want to compete. Participants can win everything from scholarships for themselves to school grants and trophies. Click into each category to get more details on how to participate.

 Most Voter Registrations The top three national & regional schools with the most voter registrations	 Best Community Involvement The school that does the best job galvanizing their community	 Most Creative The student with the most creative online voter registration drive
 Best TikTok The student with the best TikTok promoting their drive	 Most Text Messages Sent The student with the most shares of their campaign via text message	 Most Social Shares The student with the most shares of their campaign via their social

Step Three: Get People Registered

Students should work with their peers to register their friends, family, and community to vote! Students can monitor how many people they have individually registered. Need help? We'll be here to answer any questions. Keep an eye on the leaderboard!
