

Promoting love, community and connection
for every child and family

LOVE WINS:

Supporting Trauma Informed
Practices in Schools to Prevent Tragedy

Nelba L. Márquez-Greene, LMFT
CAS- Summer Leadership
Southbury, CT

What Should We Do?

Create trauma aware, compassionate communities that:

- understand the life long negative impact of trauma
- understand relational poverty
- turn away from punitive, reactive punishment and turn towards love, community and connection
- are informed by social justice

Why It Matters:

- Our changing landscape and rapidly developing culture have resulted in one that values material wealth often at the expense of relational poverty
- The impact of fewer and fewer real human connections/increased electronic use on our brains is not yet fully known
- Our biology is dependent on healthy relations
- We are wired for connection

Help, Hope and Information:

- Safety
- Predictability
- Nurturing
- Play
- Connection
- Love

Love Wins:

- Value relationships and connection -> reducing social isolation
- Teach tools for empathy, self regulation and self care
- Move, Play and create
- Respect diversity
- Provide help, hope and information
- Promote acts of service

Promoting love, community and connection for every child and family

Partner Schools:

- Curriculum
- Classroom

Promoting love, community and connection for every child and family

Professional Development:

- Small and large conferences
- Local trainings
- Collaborative partnerships with local self care communities
- Public speaking

Love Wins:

<https://vimeo.com/215763447>

Join the Movement:

CONTACT: NELBA@ANAGRACEPROJECT.ORG

TWITTER: @ANAGRACEPROJECT

WEB: WWW.ANAGRACEPROJECT.ORG

FACEBOOK: THE ANA GRACE PROJECT

INSTAGRAM: ANA GRACE PROJECT

ETSY:

AGP LOVE WINS

Promoting love, community and connection for every child and family