What's New in '21-22? A Legal Update for the Connecticut Association of Schools

Presented by Thomas B. Mooney and Natalia Sieira Millan

September 22, 2021

Q1.

What's all this about Mental Health Days, and where do I get some?

Q2.

One of the teachers in my building showed me his medical marijuana card and told me that he will be out in his car taking a “Mary Jane” break during his preparation period! Dude, for real?

Q3.

We were rather desperate to find teachers to fill our classrooms this fall, and one of our new hires is just terrible. When can I cut her loose?

Q4.

After we denied a parent's request to provide remote instruction again this year, she has now claimed that her child must attend school remotely this year because she (the parent) is immunocompromised. What should we do now?

Q5.

I heard that the vulgar cheerleader won her case at the United States Supreme Court last June. How bad is the decision for us school people?

Q6.

My secretary got up in the middle of the afternoon the other day and told me that she was going to a union meeting for the rest of the day. Can she just do that?

Q7.

My superintendent is now insisting that I ask only pre-scripted questions in job interviews. Why would I have to do that?

Q8.

Just tell me one thing.
If I have to get vaccinated,
when can I expect that the students who breathe on me will have to do so as well?

Q9.

One of the secretaries at my school worked remotely all last year. Can we make her come to work in person this year?

Q10.

It took me hours, but I read through the entire legislative update, but I didn't see anything about bullying. I thought there was a change. What gives?
