

Program Dates & Topics

Workshop 1: "Legal Update for New Leaders"

Thursday, October 2, 2014 (8:00 a.m. to Noon)

Attorney Tom Mooney of Shipman & Goodwin, LLP, a school law expert, will discuss significant legal issues of which new leaders should be aware as they are early in their leadership careers as well as providing an update to participants on recent changes in school law.

Workshop 2: Forming Your Leadership Team

Thursday, November 6, 2014 (8:00 a.m. to Noon)

Patrick Howley, independent consultant and CAS staff member, will present key strategies needed to assemble a quality building leadership team. Pat will also discuss the structure of an effective leadership meeting which enables the administrator to truly become a group member, rather than the group leader, as a step towards defining distributive leadership within the school.

Workshop 3: "Difficult Conversations-Prelude to Change"

Wednesday, January 7, 2015 (8:00 a.m. to Noon)

Framing a difficult conversation that culminates in real change is one of the most challenging leadership skills. Our panel of veteran school leaders will discuss how to structure and implement such a conversation. The outcome might not be a pending termination of employment, but the need to have a staff member alter the prevailing professional practice. This is vital as school leaders begin their mid-year conferences with teachers as part of the educator evaluation and support process.

Workshop 4: "Leadership for the Common Core"

Thursday, March 5, 2015 (8:00a.m. to 11:30 a.m.)

The implementation of the Connecticut Core Standards (CCSS) will require school leaders to support and guide their instructional faculties. Dr. Kate England, Portfolio Supervisor for the Hartford Public Schools, has extensive experience working with school leaders to drive these changes.

Workshop 5: Leveraging Social Media for Professional Learning

Tuesday, April 7, 2015 (8:00 a.m. to Noon)

Most administrators find it difficult, if not impossible, to leave their schools during the day for their own professional learning. That makes it all the more important for leaders to effectively manage and use online social media tools and resources to connect, network, and learn with and from each other. Bring your own device (BYOD) to this session and join with Dr. Rosie Vojtek, principal of Ivy Drive School in Bristol to gain confidence using and managing popular social media tools to chat, find answers, form friendships, and learn with colleagues through new and efficient ways.

Workshop 6: "Hiring for Success"

Thursday, May 7, 2015 (8:00 a.m. to Noon)

In a "people business", the key ingredient to success is bringing the right people into your organization. A panel of HR experts will discuss successful approaches to finding effective teachers and how to avoid legal pitfalls in the hiring process.
