Anne Kubitsky

Anne is an international speaker, author, artist, and Founder of the Look for the Good Project, an award-winning organization that helps participants rise above violence and become inspiring leaders in their workplace communities and beyond. Having been a victim of sexual assault, she started the LFTGP when she was feeling isolated and alone. Searching for a sense of purpose, she left 500 blank invitation postcards asking people to share a what they are grateful for and mail it back to her. She has since received over 22,000 messages, befriended thousands of strangers, and demonstrated that anyone can create a movement that matters. In 2015, received a proclamation declaring April 19th "Look for the Good Day" in the city of Hartford. A frequent presenter at schools, colleges, and corporations, Anne's popularity is skyrocketing. Her book, "What Makes You Grateful: Voices from Around the World" has been featured on MSNBC, Fox News, and NBC, as well as in Reader's Digest, The Huffington Post, The Intelligent Optimist & Good Housekeeping Magazine.
