2.0 DISCUSSION ITEMS

2.1 Violations of six quarter rule in football – Steve Wysowski presented proposed language for the penalties for violation of the six-quarter rule in football. The proposed language would indicate that a violation results in the head coach be disqualified for the next game, require the retake the Coaching Education Module 51, the program must review its procedures for tracking quarter participation and create a process/plan to ensure athletes don’t exceed the quarter rules, the game in which the violation occurs is forfeited, athlete is disqualified for the next game at any level until reinstated by the Board (consistent with disqualification/ineligible athlete rules in other circumstances), school is fined $100 per occurrence for a maximum of $500. The discussion centered primarily on the health & safety aspects of the rule and penalties and whether additional medical examination should be a part of return to play given the quarter provision is in place to limit contact exposures. Dr. Carl Nissan suggested that while the purpose of the rule is to limit exposures, tying the return to competition with specific medical examination suggests a causation that is not proven, and all players are expected to be monitored regardless of whether they exceeded quarter requirements. The feeling of the Board was that the penalties should make clear the onus is on the coaching staff’s to ensure the rule is not violated. It was suggested the language be clarified to reflect that should a violation occur it is the head varsity coach that is disqualified for one game, even if the violation occurred at a sub-varsity level, which will hopefully motivate schools to create a system that tracks this information program-wide. There was also some opinion that a forfeit, particular of a sub-varsity game would not serve as a deterrent for coaches, but others argued it would matter to school administrators and was also important to keep in the penalty for consistency reasons (use of an ineligible player triggers forfeits). Steve Wysowski said he would incorporate the suggestions and begin vetting the policy with other organizations before bringing it back to the Board for final approval.

2.2 Report from [ ]. Steve Wysowski presented a report from [ ] on the procedures it has put in place to track quarter participation in football following its violation of the rule, as was required by the penalties put forward by the Board.
