

BUILDING ADMINISTRATORS, LEAD TEACHERS, DEPARTMENT HEADS

CREATE A CULTURE FOCUSED ON LEARNING USING LEARNING BLOCKS

ABOUT THIS FREE WORKSHOP

This presentation will instruct school leaders on how to create a focus on learning in their schools using the Learning Block Process. Not only is the Learning Block Process a great tool to support student learning but it is also a great tool to create a culture of continuous learning for adults. Learning blocks are cycles of planning, teaching, assessing, and using the results to take action in order to improve student learning. Participants will learn how to create a culture of collaboration in schools focused on the right work and centered around common formative assessments and student-centered action plans. Participants will also learn about the different tools available for staff to facilitate, monitor, and coach the learning block process as well as how to support teachers in effectively using a flex block.

PRESENTER: BO RYAN, PRINCIPAL

Ana Grace Academy of the Arts
Magnet Middle School, Bloomfield

WED. MAY 1st

FREE TO CAS MEMBERS

8:30 AM - 11:00 AM
CAS, 30 Realty Drive
Cheshire, CT 06410

<https://casci.ac/10163>

Bo Ryan is passionate about building and sustaining professional learning communities (PLCs) and creating high-performing teams. He is certified in PLCs, Response to Intervention (RTI), Transforming School Culture, and Priority Schools in a PLC at Work.

In addition, he is a certified presenter for Marzano and an RTI Master Coach. He has worked with schools across the United States. He earned undergraduate degrees from Western Connecticut State University, a master's degree from Syracuse University, and a sixth-year degree from Southern Connecticut State University.

