

Supporting Young Children: Adapting Clinical Work Through the Lens of Early Childhood Mental Health

This one-hour virtual training is designed for mental health professionals in the school setting who are supporting children in Pre-K and Kindergarten. We will discuss the developmental benchmarks and social-emotional milestones to anticipate for young children. We will also define and look through the lens of the Infant and Early Childhood Mental Health (IECMHC) field, in its application to these younger children.

Specific strategies and resources will be outlined and discussed for adults to best scaffold and guide a young child's developing ability to self-regulate.

A follow-up one hour 'office hour' will be offered to all participants, for further discussion and opportunity to explore resources together. Those who RSVP prior to this training will be emailed an ECCP® Resource to supplement the training content.
