Understanding and Developing IEPs to Improve the PPT Process
January 23, 2020 8:30 - 11:30 am

School leaders are charged with leading schools so that all students, including those with disabilities, achieve college-and career-readiness standards. This workshop will provide school leaders and teams with essential knowledge and skills to enhance the IEP development process that will lead to greater educational outcomes for students with disabilities at the Planning and Placement team meetings. Participants in this session will gain an understanding of the “quality” components of the Individualized Education Program, the Educational Benefit standard and the IEP Development process that engage families and educators at the Planning and Placement team meetings. School principals are encouraged to bring a team with them to this professional learning session and they will leave with tools and resources that they can apply to improving their current practices.

Participants must bring a FULLY charged laptop/tablet.

Presenter: Stephen Proffitt, Director for Special Education Programs and Instructional Design, SERC
