DATE: September 19, 2011

SUBJECT: Release of Final Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) Reports

Attached you will find a copy of the 2010-11 AYP Press Release and listings of districts and schools that did not make AYP. This information is embargoed until noon today, at which time it will be released to the press and media. Concurrently, electronic reports will be available on www.ctreports.com. District-level users can log into the secure portion of the site using the assigned username and password currently used to access secure Connecticut Mastery Test (CMT) and Connecticut Academic Performance Test (CAPT) test results. Contact your district test coordinator if you need this information.

Thank you for your patience and the support from your staff members in verifying information. There were few changes in school or district status from the preliminary reports that were issued in early August. In those cases, staff members from the Bureau of Student Assessment personally notified superintendents of those changes.
