About the Workshops...

- “Heading Down the Paper Trail: Effective Documentation of Performance Problems.” This workshop will review the requirements for documentation of performance concerns. Practical advice (including sample letters) will be provided to illustrate effective documentation and to identify pitfalls to avoid.

  Attorney Mooney was recently appointed Professor in Residence, Neag School of Education, University of Connecticut, and he is an adjunct professor at the University of Connecticut School of Law. Mr. Mooney writes frequently on school law topics and last year C Abe published the 2nd Edition of his Practical Guide to Connecticut School Law. A graduate of Yale College and Harvard Law School, Mr. Mooney is a partner in the Hartford law firm of Shipman & Goodwin, LLP.

- “NEASC Under the New Standards.” Dr. Graner and Mr. Sweet have chaired numerous NEASC accreditation evaluations and will discuss the steps necessary to prepare for a school’s self-study visit in light of the new significantly revised Standards of Accreditation. The presentation will include a discussion of the new Standards, as well as development of the school’s Mission and Expectations of Student Learning.

- “The CMT: Changes Associated with Generation 3.” Ms. Savoie works in the Bureau of Student Assessment and Research, Student Assessment Unit. Her duties include the language arts portion of the CMT. She is the contact for the annual bilingual assessment and she works closely with the consultant assigned to alternate assessments for students enrolled in special education programs.

- “The New Connecticut High School - A Guide to Improved Learning for All Students.” Dr. Higgins served on the NEASC committee that developed the new accreditation standards and self-study protocols and the NEASC Commission for Public Secondary Schools. He served on the committee that developed “The New Connecticut High School.” For the last few decades, education and government leaders have used the coming of the 21st century as an opportunity to establish new beginnings - to change some of the practices in their institutions. Futurists have presented visions of the 21st century. It is time for changes in high schools to ensure that Connecticut students are prepared to live in a new era and a new millennium with new demands and higher expectations. Branford High School has developed Performance Graduation Expectations for all students.

- “Preparing for the New Generation CAPT.” Ms. Leon coordinates the administration of the Connecticut Academic Performance Test (CAPT) and oversees the development of the CAPT Reading and Writing Across the Disciplines sections. She monitors the scoring of the CAPT Response to Literature, Reading for Information and Interdisciplinary Writing. She also facilitates work with CAPT Language Arts and Interdisciplinary advisory committees.

More about the workshops...

- “Students As Integrated Learners” (SAIL). SAIL is a constructive approach to integrated learning at the middle school level. This strategy based curriculum initiative has been recognized by the New England League of Middle Schools, The National Council of Teachers of English, and NESDEC. This well-established program has produced outstanding results.

- “The New SDE Teacher Evaluation Guidelines: Looking at the Big Picture.” The SDE guidelines published May 1999 present a dramatic shift in approaches to teacher evaluation and professional development. This session will focus on the differences between existing practices and new opportunities afforded under the new guidelines and the Common Core of Teaching (CCT), Connecticut’s new definition of the effective teacher.
