On & Off the Field
KEYNOTE SPEAKER— FRIDAY, March 12th
Mark Scharenbroich

Through connecting the mind and heart, today’s speaker will help us understand how simple acts can have a big impact in both our professional and our personal lives.

Over the past twenty-five years, Mark “Sharon-brock” has traveled over two million miles speaking to audiences in every state in the United States, every province of Canada and in Europe.

Mark has presented over 3500 programs from as far north as the Arctic Circle to as far south as the Panama Canal.

He is well known as a writer, performer and director of several award-winning films and video training programs. His video, “Is This Your First?” is used in over 1000 hospital pre-natal education classes. Mark also earned an Emmy award for his ABC television special, “Doing Great.”

Mark’s presentation will help all of us connect mind and heart in the workplace, in our homes and in our communities.

School spirit is not pom pons and pep rallies. School spirit is a simple process of connecting the dots. If each group within your school— the skaters, the music kids, the staff, the jocks— is a dot, then school spirit is the connections made between those dots. Healthy schools promote connections between these groups so that students and staff feel connected.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER— SATURDAY, March 13th
Daniel Switchenko, Ph.D.

Dr. Switchenko earned his doctorate from The Ohio State University in Exercise Science. He is a professor of exercise physiology and the former head basketball coach at Eastern Connecticut State University. He now serves as a Substance Abuse Prevention Specialist and travels sharing a messages about the effect of substance abuse upon academic and athletic performance. In addition to substance abuse, he also covers important topics concerning success and leadership. Dr. Switchenko appears regularly at the Massachusetts Sportsmanship Summit and the State of Vermont State Leadership Conference.

CLOSING SPEAKER— SATURDAY, March 13th
Suzy Whaley

Suzy Whaley, a 36-year-old club pro who played collegiate golf at University of North Carolina and briefly on the LPGA Tour in the early 1990s, teed it up against the men in the PGA TOUR’s Greater Hartford Open (GHO) in July 2003. She is the first woman to qualify for a PGA TOUR event since Babe Zaharias in 1945.

Whaley earned the right to play against the men by winning the Connecticut section PGA Championship in the fall of 2002. She was hitting from the shorter women’s tees then, but when she teed off at the GHO she played the course’s full 6,820-yard distance.

Whaley finished 148th, 13 over par, missing the cut at the GHO. She tied with three men and ahead of three.

Whaley is a Class A Member of the LPGA Teaching and Club Professional division, Class A Member of the PGA of America and the Head Professional at Blue Fox Run, a public golf course in Avon, Connecticut.

She has submitted her application to attend LPGA Tour school this fall.

She is the mother of two daughters, Jennifer, 8, and Kelly, 6. Her husband, Bill, is the general manager and director of golf of the TPC at River Highlands in Cromwell, Conn., the course where the GHO was held.

WORKSHOPS
Leadership Skills, Choices & Ideas

There are 10 different workshops from which you can choose. Please read the descriptions for each and check off the three most interesting topics and indicate that on the registration form on page 8.

Communication: Stresses verbal and nonverbal communication as well as the skills of listening.

Conflict Resolution: Using role play, groups will act out how they would handle various situations.

Cooperation: Groups will accomplish tasks together and discuss what essential skills are involved.

Leadership: Discuss what qualities make a good leader and which characteristics are most important.

Problem Solving: Using activities the students will be challenged with a number of problems and discuss what methods were successful in addressing which kinds of problems.

Respect: Males and females will discuss ways in which each gender can show respect for the other. They will have an opportunity to listen to each side and respond.

Self-Esteem: Students will identify ways in which self-esteem impacts their ability to interact with others and their performance.

Time Management: Students will discuss the need to prioritize, plan ahead, and make time to sleep and eat wisely.

Values: Students will examine their own values and identify how they affect their individual decisions.

Advisors/Coach Training Strand

Adult delegates have an opportunity to participate in a number of exciting programs. A special session with Mark Scharenbroich will be given for all adult delegates. In addition, students and adults will be able to attend a session on college planning that helps identify the best means for preparing students for the search and application process.

Several other exciting programs are in the works, including tentative meetings with members of the athletics staff at UCONN, tours of facilities, and a choice of adult only workshops.

School Recognition Programs

The Conference Committee would like to recognize schools for their outstanding contributions both within their schools and toward their communities. If your school has a great project that you would like to have recognized, submit for TOP TEN PROJECTS. In order to qualify, submissions must include a typed summary of the project as well as the name and phone number of an adult contact so people could duplicate the program.

SPIRIT AWARD— want to be named the most spirited school? Have a POP TOP drive and bring the results to the conference. The CIAC S,M, and L school with the most POP TOPS (the tabs off soda cans) will be awarded a 6 Foot Spirit Stick. Winners will be announced during the awards segment of the program.

HONOR COUNCIL— is your student council an Honor Council? Is your Advisor an ADVISOR OF THE YEAR? Find out in April!
